

COVID-19 in Lebanon: Perceptions and Behaviors

The perceptions and practices of the respondents towards COVID-19 are not influenced only by health considerations. COVID-19 seems to be strongly linked to political and economic considerations that respondents believe have a direct impact on their daily life. Research findings showed major differences in COVID-19 behaviors across different governorates and age groups.

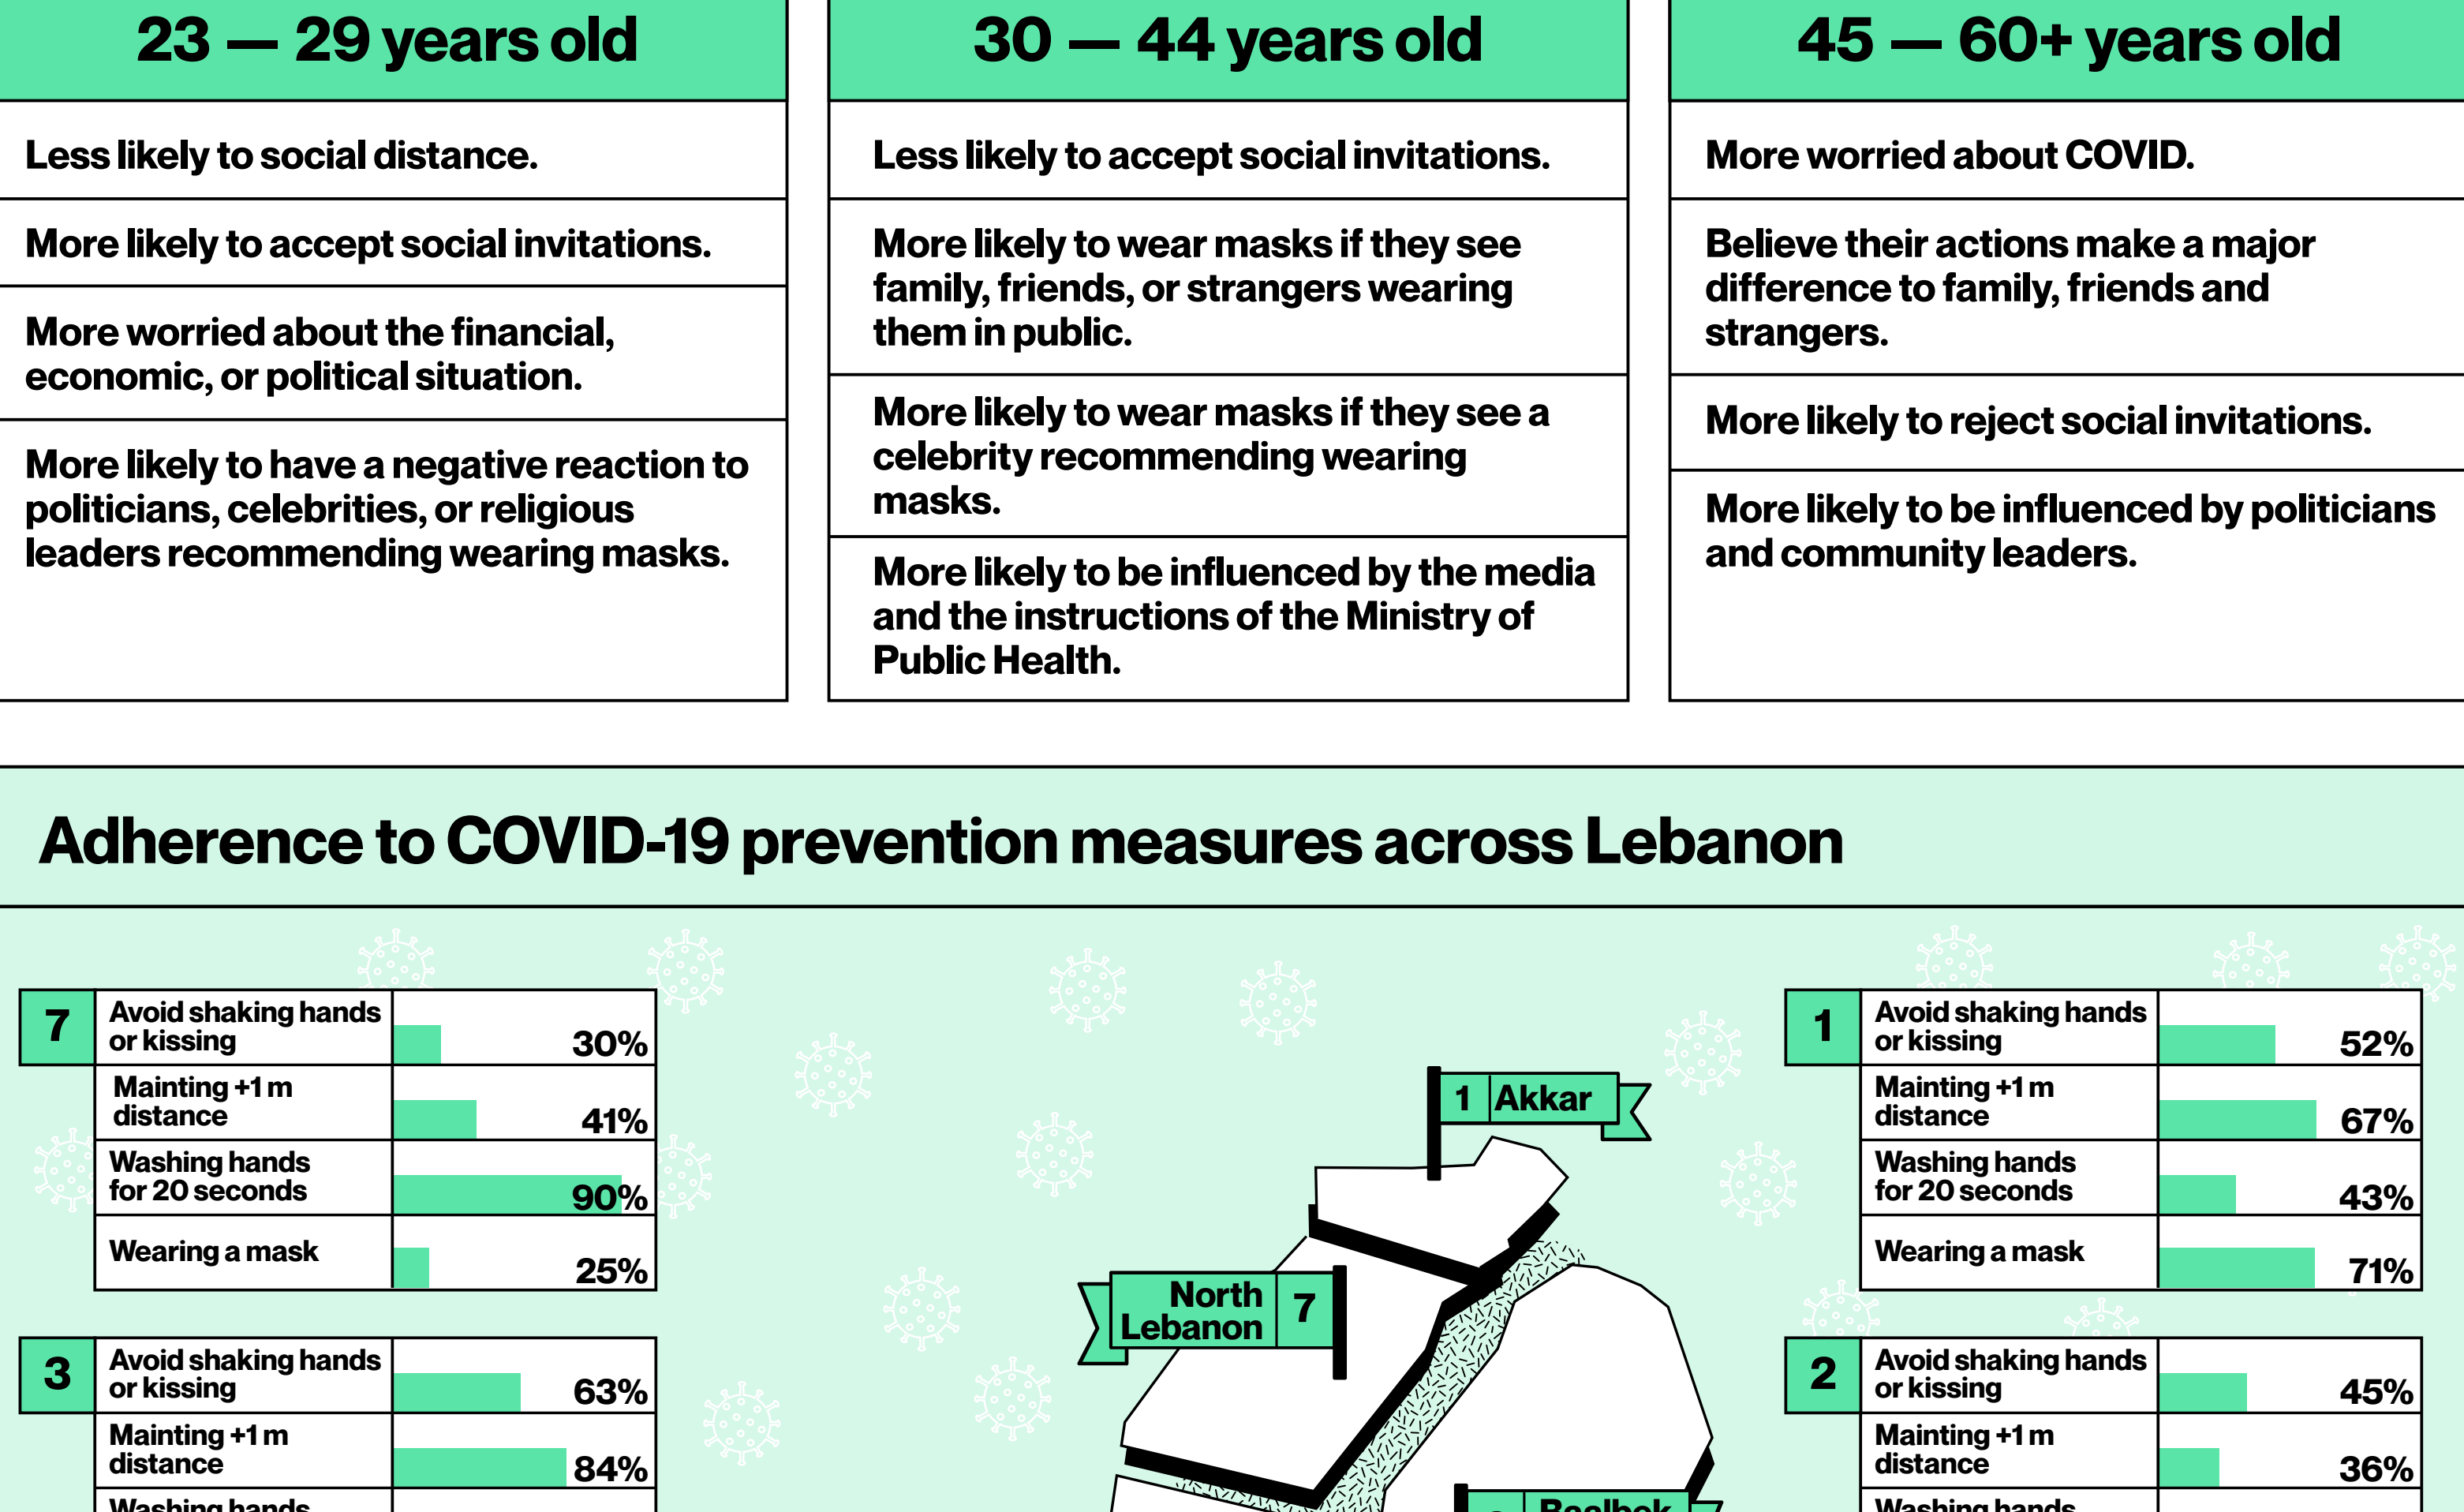

What do people think about COVID-19?

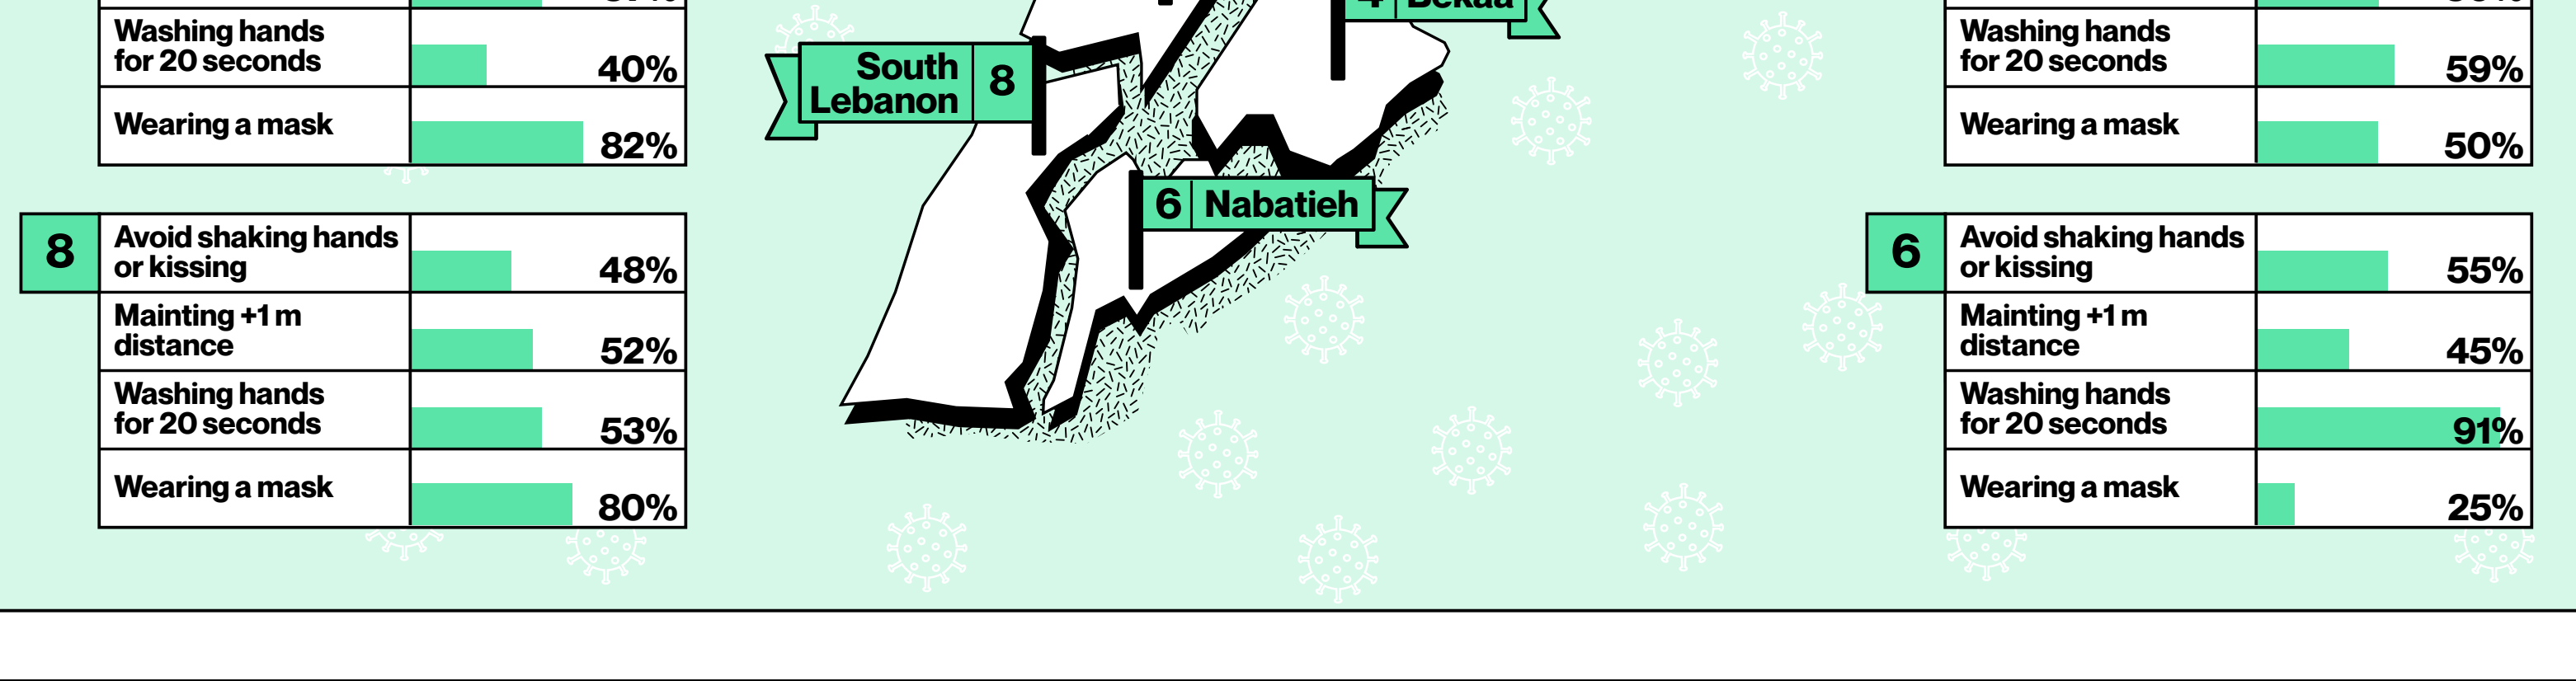

What do people know about COVID-19?

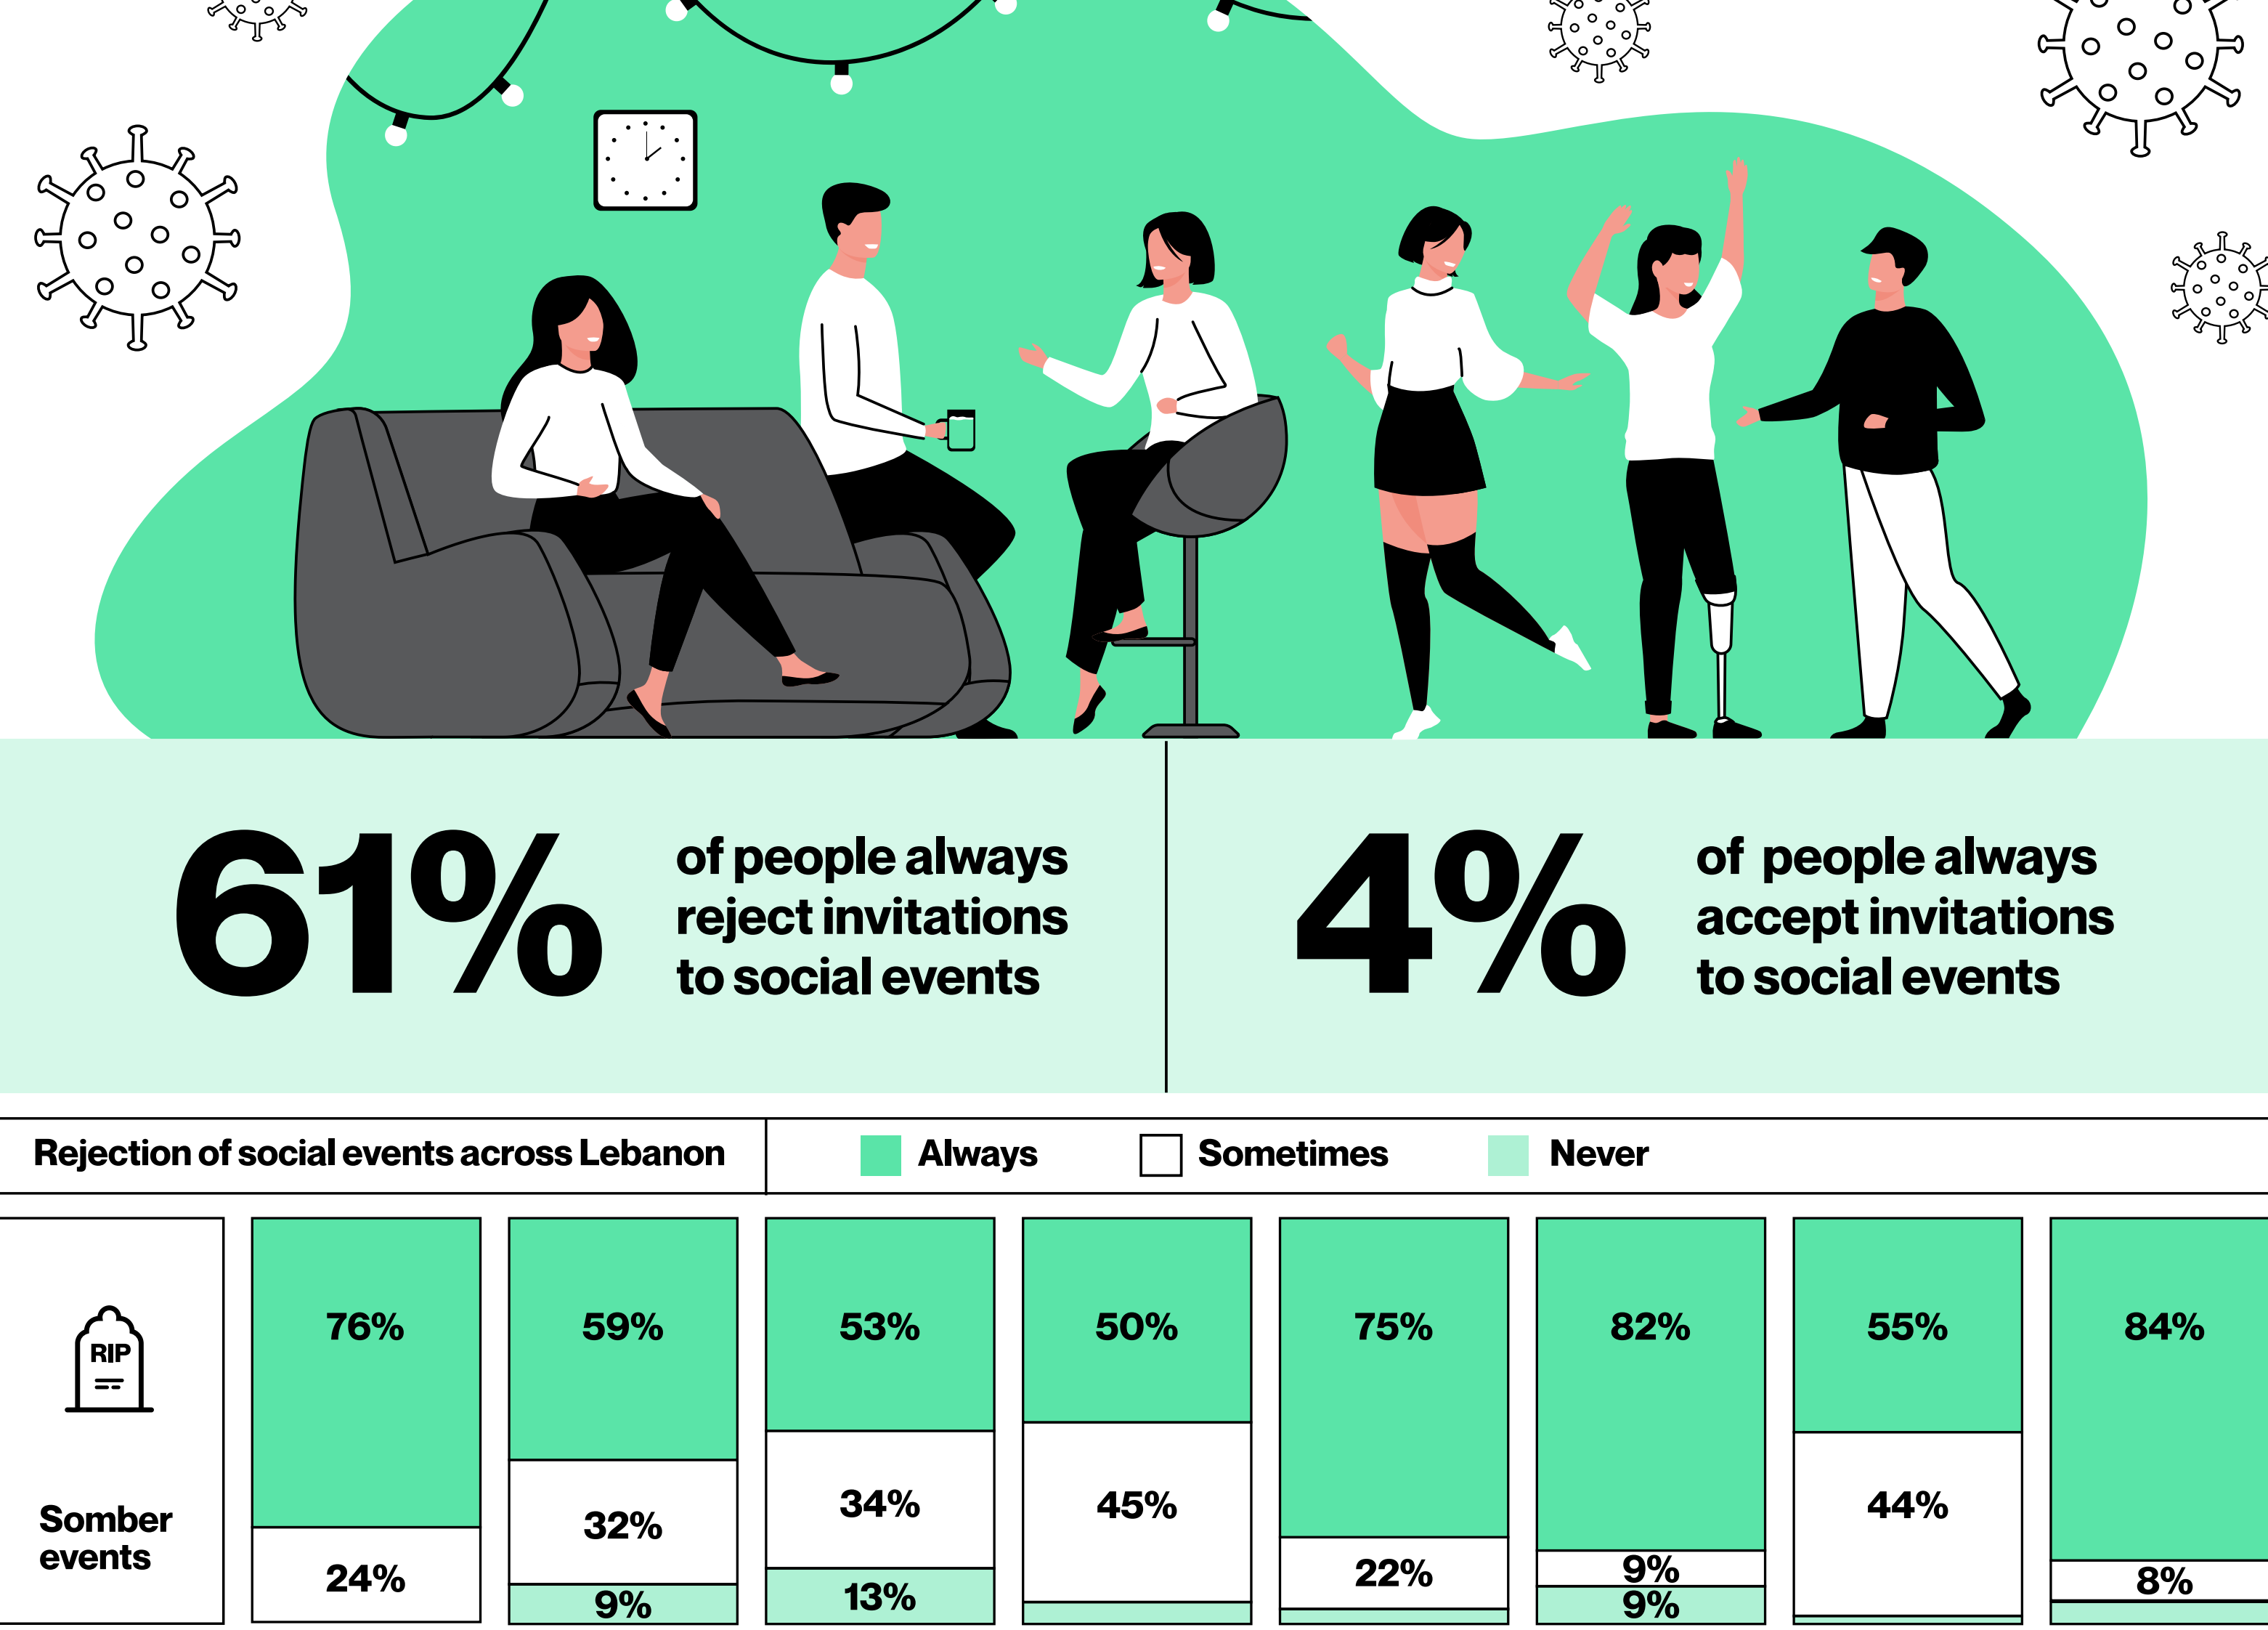

How does COVID-19 influence social behavior and social engagement?

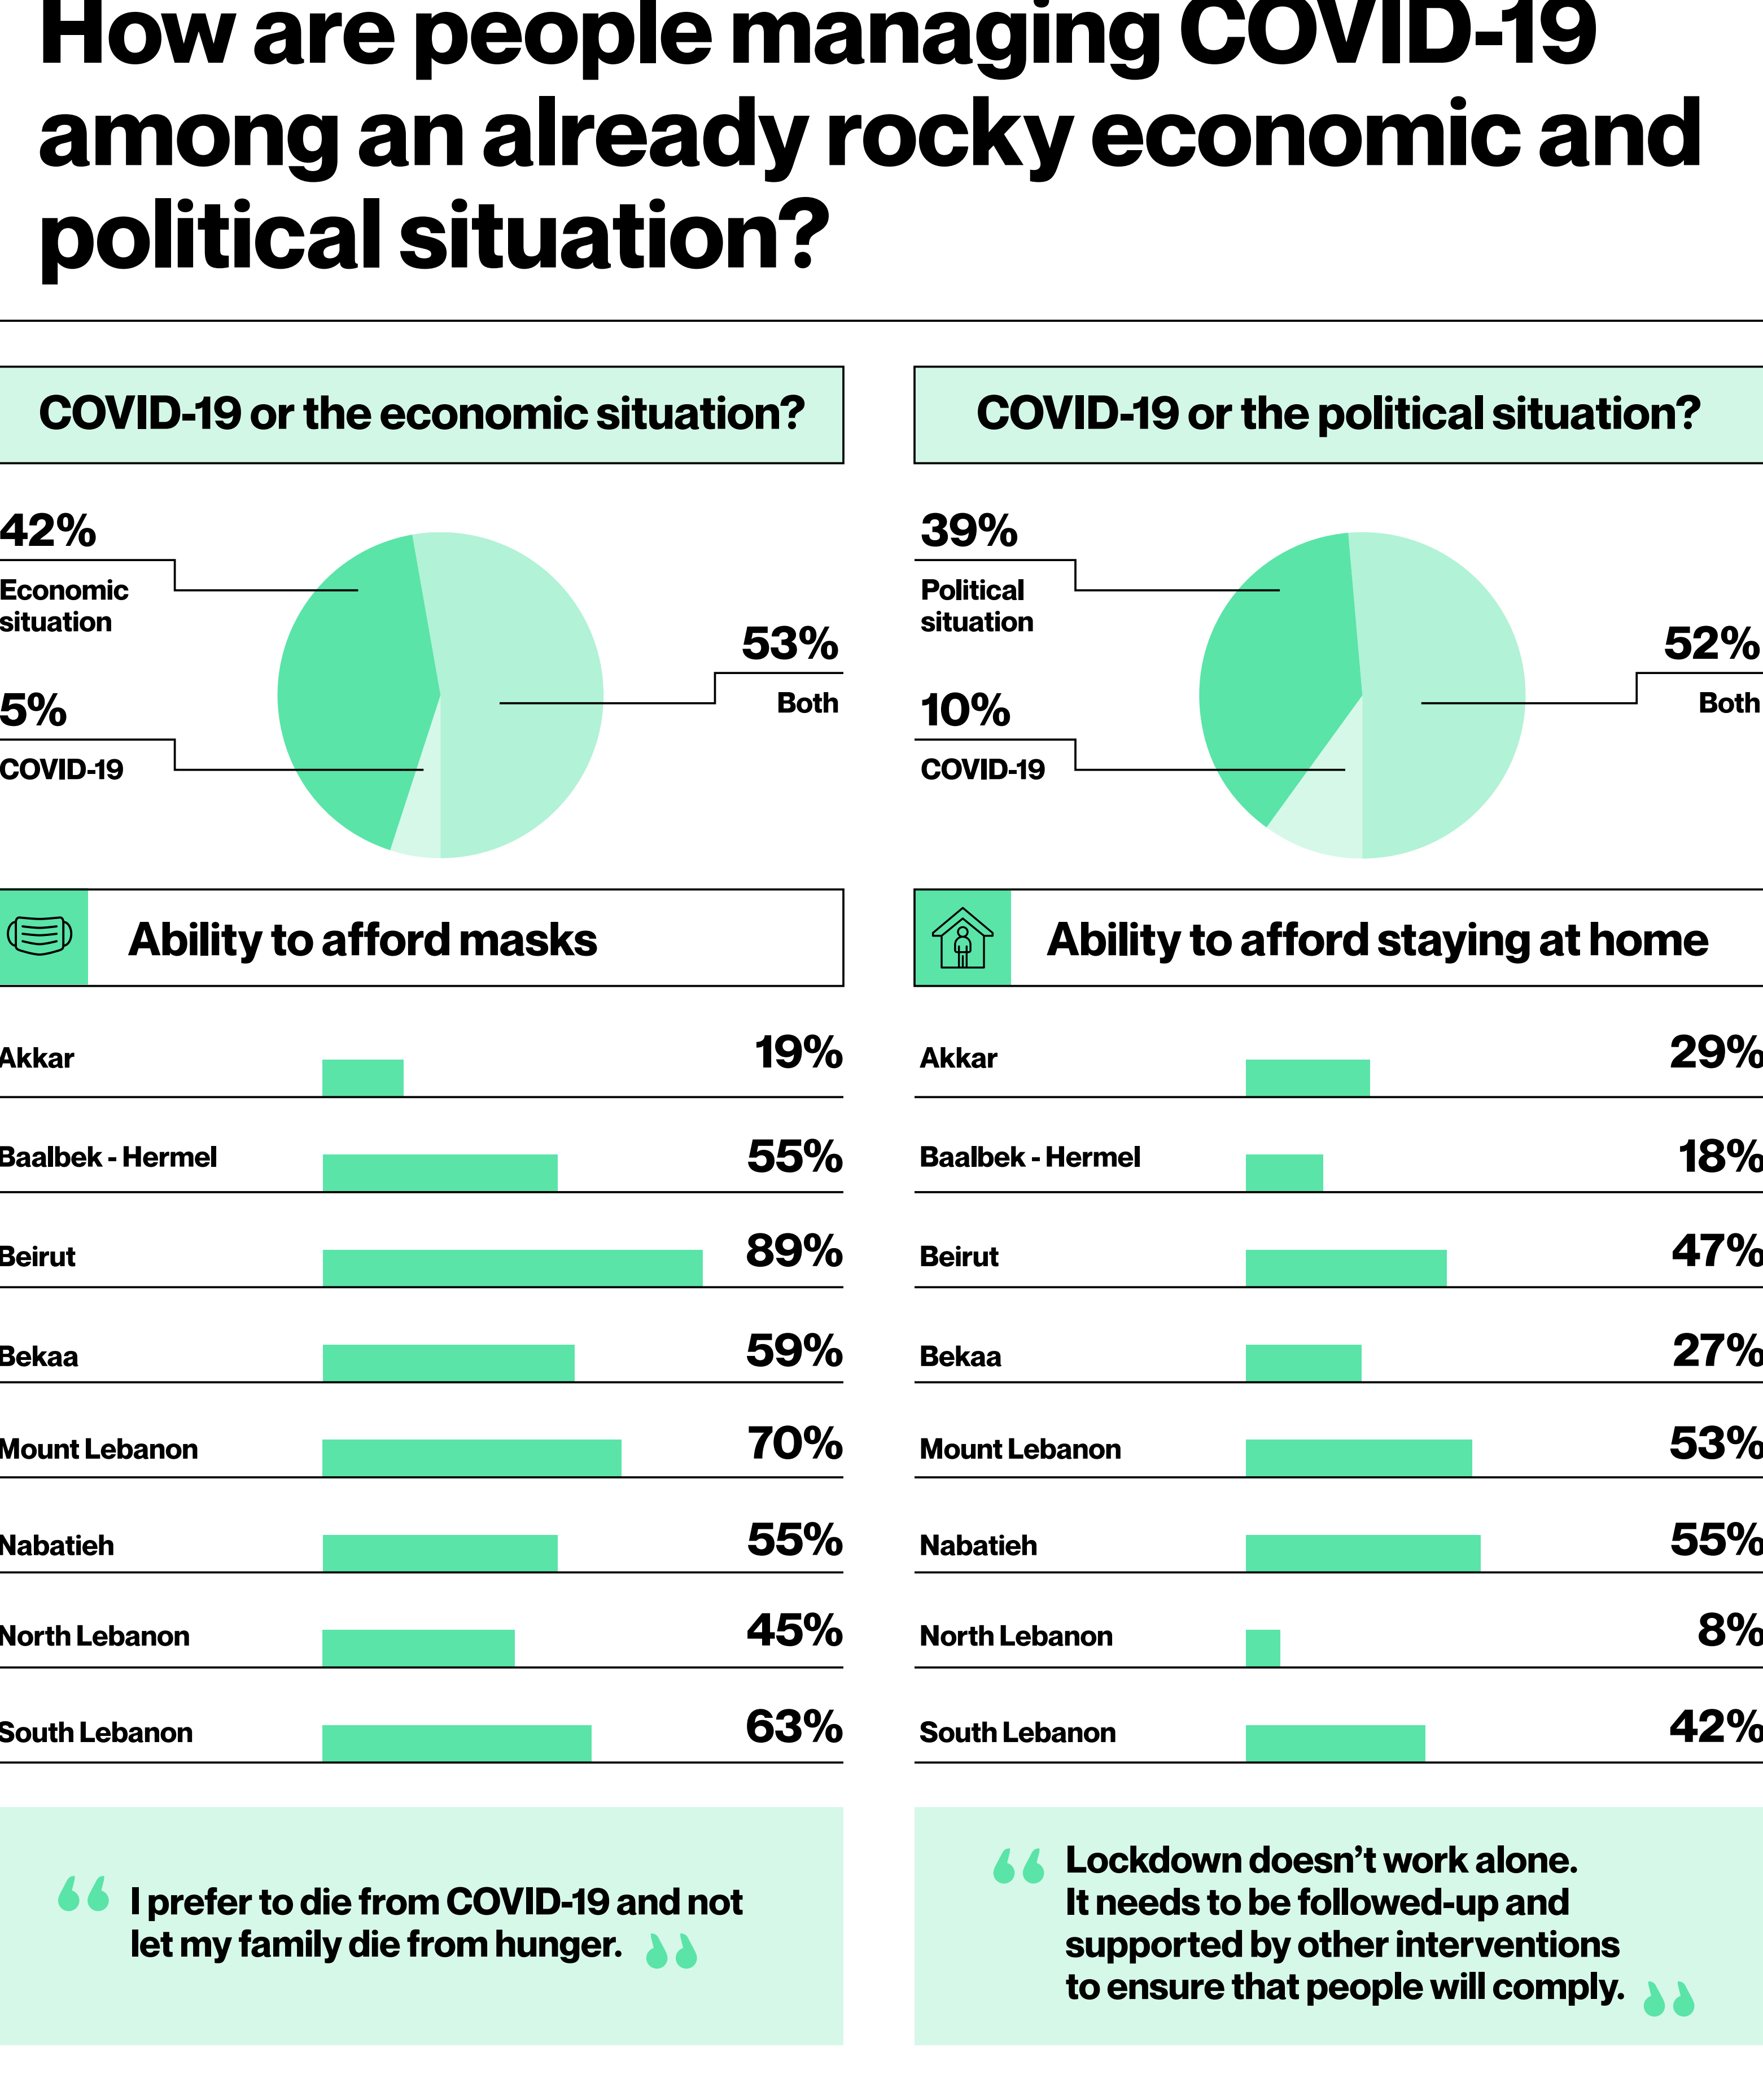

Adherence to COVID-19 prevention measures across Lebanon

How does COVID-19 impact the attendance of social events across Lebanon?

How are people managing COVID-19 among an already rocky economic and political situation?

Do people trust the Lebanese government to handle COVID-19?

